

Ethnography Conference

November 1st – 3rd, 2018

Yale University

Observing and Representing
Everyday Life

Thursday, November 1, 2018

The Study Hotel at Yale

1157 Chapel Street, New Haven, CT

7:00PM: Reception

Friday, November 2, 2018

The Graduate Club

155 Elm Street, New Haven, CT

8:00AM: Breakfast

9:00AM: Welcome:

Elijah Anderson, Yale University, and
Grace Kao, Chair, Sociology Department,
Yale University

9:15AM: Morning Keynote:

Henri Peretz, University of Paris, and
Celia Bense, University of Paris
“Potpourri: In Search of a Unifying Theme”

10:15AM: Coffee and Snack Break

10:45AM: Public Spaces and Reflexivity:

Jean Beaman, Purdue University
“The Outsider Within: Implications for Ethnographic Research on Race and Difference in France”

Friday, November 2, 2018

10:45AM (cont'd):

Michael DeLand, Gonzaga University

(via Skype)

“Prismatic Descriptions: The Sense of Action in Participant Observation Ethnography”

Kyle Nelson, University of California,

Los Angeles

“The Policy Question in Urban Ethnography”

Kehinda Andrews, Birmingham City

University

“The Politics of Ethnography”

12:30PM: Lunch Keynote:

Robert Emerson, University of

California, Los Angeles

“Ethnographic Fieldwork and Public Place Troubles”

2:30PM: Workspaces and Field Analysis:

Amandine Gautier, Université de Lyon

“Bodies and Meat: The Work of Inspectors in French Slaughterhouses”

Amélie Beaumont, University of

Paris 1 Pantheon-Sorbonne

“A Luxury Working Class? What Class Tells Us About Work, What Work Tell Us About Class: The Case of Luxury Hotel Employees”

Friday, November 2, 2018

2:30PM (cont'd):

Nicholas Kearns, Yale University

"Heroin Highway: The Drug Market Creep in Rural New England"

3:50PM: Break

4:10PM: Private Spaces and Field Worker Position:

Patrice Collins, Yale University

"Black Children and Families with Incarcerated Loved Ones"

Nicolas Larchet, University of Le

Havre Normandie - IDEES

"Distinction Without Treason? Making Sense of the Tastes and Distastes of a New Orleans Black Middle Class Family"

Martina Cvajner, University of Trento

"Boldly Go Where No Woman Has Gone Before: Women Migrant Pioneers and the Quest for a New Self"

5:30PM: Break

Friday, November 2, 2018

6:30PM: Dinner Keynote:

Nikki Jones, University of California,
Berkeley

“Why We Need Black Feminist Ethnography, and How To Do It”

Saturday, November 3, 2018

The Graduate Club

155 Elm Street, New Haven, CT

8:00AM: Breakfast

9:00AM: Morning Keynote:

Bill Kornblum, City University of
New York, and Stephane Tonnelat,
New York University

“Subway Ethnography: Triangulations With Participant Observation”

10:00AM: Coffee and Snack Break

10:30AM: Intertwined Spaces and Novel Methods:

Gabriel Uribelarrea, Université de Lyon

“Exposing Oneself: A Visual and Cooperative Ethnography Among Homeless People”

Saturday, November 3, 2018

10:30AM (cont'd):

Elif Aksaz, University of Paris 1

Pantheon-Sorbonne

"The Fair Price of Immigration: Anatolian Emigrants and the Interrelationships"

Fernando A. Calderon Figueroa,

University of Toronto

"Pedestrian Spontaneity: Go Pro Camera for Studying Walks Through Neighborhoods"

12:00PM: Lunch Keynote:

Jack Katz, University of California,
Los Angeles

"Assassinating Ethnographers: An Instruction Manual"

1:20PM: Marginality and Everyday Life:

Kalfani N. Turé, Yale University

"The American Dystopian Gaze: Race, Place and Perceiving African Americans as Members of the Iconic Ghetto"

Stephane D. Andrade, Yale University

"Behind the Eight Ball: An Ethnographic Portrait of a Father in Trouble"

Saturday, November 3, 2018

1:20PM (cont'd):

Marlese Durr, Wright State University

"Neighborhoods as Public Spaces"

Linda Haaparjarvi, EHESS

"The Communitarian Stigma: Moral Disqualification of Minority Citizens at a Parisian Maison du Quartier"

2:35PM: Break

3:00PM: Representations of Culture:

Annette Lareau and Blair Sackett,

University of Pennsylvania

"Not as Much Help as You Would Think: The Benefits and Limits to Using Social Media in Recruitment"

Carole Gayet-Viaud, EHESS

"At the Very Least: Exploring the Vicissitudes of Urban Civility"

Jeffrey Guhin, University of California,
Los Angeles

"Does Urban Ethnography Have Religion?"

4:20PM: Wrap Up and Closing Remarks:

Waverly Duck, University of Pittsburgh,
and Zsuzsa Berend, University of California, Los Angeles